Siberian Officials Praise "Casey" for Their Good Work in Russia.

Caring for American Calls for Lonesome Journeys Lasting for Weeks.

Secretaries Always on the Alert for the American Naval Vessels.

HEAR NOTHING BUT PRAISE.

That "Casey" is carrying on for the American soldiers and sailors in Russia with the same success that heralded his efforts in France, Belgium and Germany is substantiated in official letters just made public by William J. Mulligan, Chairman of the Committee on War Activities for the Knights of Columbus. Through the distribution of free gifts, personal attention and entertainments, the work of Secretary Mulligan, under the direction of William Fox, of Indianapolis, and Garry McGarry, of Buffalo, have become very popular with the doughboys and gobs. Part of the work involved in the caring for the American calls for lonesome journeys of weeks along the route of the Trans-Siberian railroad. Here the Secretaries met up with the Corporal and squad on guard duty at the various posts.

In speaking of the work of Secretary Mulligan, who was formerly a musical comedy star on the Gay Rialto of New York City, Major Gen. William S. Graves, commanding the Siberian forces, wrote Chairman Mulligan:

"The services of McGarry among the A. E. F. in Siberia have been extremely valuable in connection with the comfort and entertainment of the troops, and he had in a very valuable effect upon the morale of these forces."

"The co-operation which the Knights of Columbus have had from Russian and other authorities at a time when anything American was distinctly unpopular is another tribute to the ability and fineness of tact and worthiness," said Lieut. H. A. Horgan, morale officer with the troops.

Major Samuel I. Johnson, Provost Marshal at Vladivostok, told Mulligan in his letter: "I hear nothing but praise on every side for the work of the Knights of Columbus in Siberia. May the good work continue."

Messrs. McGarry and Fox, besides keeping track of the doings in Russia, are always on the "alert" for the American naval vessels. Recently at Yokohama the Asiatic fleet arrived and the Knights of Columbus went to meet him. The first night a banquet was provided for all the men of the cruiser South Dakota. The men were entertained for seven days with excursions to various islands in the sea.

When the party ended Rear Admiral Albert Gleaves, former head of the cruiser and transport service that took 2,000,000 Yanks overseas, wrote the following account of his impressions of the K. of C. activities:

"I desire to thank you and express my appreciation of the valuable services rendered to our officers and men during the voyage to Yokohama. Through your assistance you have provided opportunity for the enlisted personnel to visit ashore under conditions that not only tended to eliminate a possible cause of disturbance, but gave occasion for the Japanese people to see our men under orderly and favorable circumstances. It is hardly necessary to mention the value these visits ashore will have in bettering the morale of the crews of our ships."

In his report to Overseas Director William P. Larkin, of the Knights of Columbus, Edgar A. Sharp, K. of C. Commissioner to the British Isles, who has just returned from the Fabre line steamer Madonna, states that American superiority in sport, demonstrated so often in England, is one of the things underlying English prejudice against Americans.

"I witnessed many competitive games between Americans and Englishmen," he said. "In fact, the Knights of Columbus put on all manner of athletic contests between Englishmen and Americans. While not attended by riots, there was plenty of feeling in evidence at all times. The boys like this. I'm inclined to think the English and Americans agree a good deal in taking trifles seriously."

He saw that the K. of C. Beckett-Cay Beckett-McGoorty and trained exact one week for his bout with Beckett. "If he had trained for two weeks, Beckett would never go to meet Carpenter." The English, he said, "are a man, are a scout, the light little isle for athletic talent for next year's Olympic game at Antwerp."

State is the very breath of Catholic discipline. It is extraordinary that the Federal prohibition amendment should be singled out for particular attention above other statutes equally binding. The American people can be trusted to obey every constitutional law. I think that the function of the churches is to teach the virtue of obedience, and then leave the enforcement of law to the properly constituted agencies of government."

EVERYBODY ENTHUSED.

All friends of the Visitation Home for Working Girls are enthused over the prospects for the drive that will open next week for that most worthy institution, and for which Chairman Frank Geher and his associates have been working hard. They will again put Louisville "over the top" in this campaign for the benefit of Kentucky's young women. During the past week congregational meetings have been held in Sacred Heart, St. George, St. Joseph, St. Mary Magdalen, St. James and St. Vincent de Paul parishes, and also of the Daughters of Isabelle, all of which were enthusiastic and gave promise of splendid results. The city and parishes have been divided into districts for the canvass, and it is urged that everybody be ready to respond when called upon. Monday night there will be a public mass meeting to start the drive at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 816 South Fourth street, to which everybody will be welcome. The various committee chairmen will submit their reports and the most eloquent and able speakers in the city will be present to give this popular and needful drive a rousing start. It is not thought anyone will fail to subscribe to this cause, approved by Bishop O'Donoghue and the Board of Trade, and one of the most deserving ever put before the public.

STROKE WAS FATAL.

With sincere regret the Kentucky Irish American chronicles the sudden death of John P. Kelly, one of its first subscribers and a veteran of the Louisville Police Department, who was stricken with apoplexy

Monday night at Twenty-eighth and Madison. John Kelly was born in County Galway, Ireland, in 1844, and with his parents came to Louisville when thirteen years old. Here he lived an active and useful life. For a number of years he owned and conducted Kelly's Park at Twenty-eighth and Elliott, one of the most popular amusement places in Kentucky and the scene of the first balloon ascension in Louisville. About 1893 he organized the Free Turnpike League of Jefferson County, and it was largely due to his efforts and leadership that travelers were freed from road toll. His service in the Louisville Police Department dates back to April, 1870. He was probably the oldest man in point of service in the department. He was a first Lieutenant when John G. Baxter was Mayor. Mr. Kelly was looking forward to April 1, at which time he intended to resign as patrolman and celebrate a "golden jubilee." Faithful and loyal to Ireland and the Catholic religion, and was widely known for his generosity to the poor. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Rose Kelly; a daughter, Mrs. John Quinn, and four sons, W. C. Thomas P., E. C. and Theodore Kelly. His funeral took place Tuesday morning from the Church of Our Lady, Rev. Martin O'Connor conducting the solemn obsequies.

THEY MUST STAY.

A survey of the number of former service men unemployed the first two weeks of 1920 has just been completed by Daniel J. Sullivan, Director of the Knights of Columbus employment service. Twenty-seven cities are covered in his report, which shows that more than 10,000 former veterans in these cities are unemployed, New York leading with the largest number, which is 2,000. "The figures show that the re-employment of service men is still a problem, demanding considerable attention," said Director Sullivan. "In many of the cities the Knights have been operating employment bureaus along the last several months. This is especially true of New York. Reports received from different agencies make it imperative that the Knights stay in the field until the unemployment situation has been entirely cleared up."

NEILL ON BOARD.

The Judges of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia have selected Dr. Charles Patrick Neill, manager of the bureau of information of the Southwestern railways and former Commissioner of Labor, as a member of the Board of Education of the District of Columbia, to succeed John B. Larnier, resigned.

Dr. Neill is a native of Rock Island, Ill., studied at the University of Notre Dame and the University of Texas, and received the degree of doctor of arts from Georgetown University.

OVER THE TOP EASY.

Pledges of $2,566,000 to the bond issue of the Irish Republic were made Sunday afternoon at the mass meeting at the Lexington Theater, New York City. Of the total issue of $10,000,000 the quota for the State of New York is $3,000,000 and that for the city $2,400,000. The announcement that the city had gone over the top was received with enthusiasm at the meeting, which was one of the largest and most spirited ever held in the interest of the Irish cause. Archbishop Hayes set $1,000 subscription. In a letter to Bourke Cochran, the Chairman, he said he was making this personal contribution after a conference with President De Valera, of the Irish Republic, and was "convinced that his programme for the development of Ireland was entirely practical and constructive."

When President De Valera was introduced he received an ovation that lasted many minutes. Others who spoke were the Rev. Francis P. Duffy, W. Bourke Cochran, Justice Daniel F. Cohalan, Mrs. O'Reilly, wife of the late James O'Reilly, known as the "Irish Paul Revere," Joseph E. Scott of Los Angeles, and Rabbi David Klein, of Beth Blohm Temple.

OLD LIMERICK BOY.

Damon Runyon, the famous New York sporting editor, has been sojourning at Jacksonville, Fla., and in discussing the prominent men of the place says: "Harry Culley, sporting editor of the Times-Union, is a native of Indiana, there is no doubt, and the frenzied and insane manner in which the Bingham press attacked Senator Perry, one of the brightest men in the Senate, emphasizes the control of Republican Boss Hart over the editorial and news columns of the Courier-Journal and Times. It is rumored that Wallace Hughes, who is seen frequently hobnobbing with Morrow and Hart is the press representative of any of the three getting tired and leaving Thursday morning."

TEXAN WINS BRIDE.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius R. O'Brien, 1242 South Brook street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Maud Linus O'Brien, to Lloyd T. Corbett, of Sherman, Texas, on Monday night at St. Paul's church. The bride was escorted by her brother, the Rev. Father Lyons officiating. Miss Estelle Young was the bridesmaid and Frank O'Brien, brother of the bride, was best man. The bride wore her traveling suit of midnight blue tulle with a close fitting hat of blue tulle trimmed in gold, and a corsage bouquet of orchids. Miss Young wore a blue tulle dress with blue hat to match and carried Mrs. Ward roses. About 1893 he organized the Free Turnpike League of Jefferson County, and it was largely due to his efforts and leadership that travelers were freed from road toll. His service in the Louisville Police Department dates back to April, 1870. He was probably the oldest man in point of service in the department. He was a first Lieutenant when John G. Baxter was Mayor. Mr. Kelly was looking forward to April 1, at which time he intended to resign as patrolman and celebrate a "golden jubilee." Faithful and loyal to Ireland and the Catholic religion, and was widely known for his generosity to the poor. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Rose Kelly; a daughter, Mrs. John Quinn, and four sons, W. C. Thomas P., E. C. and Theodore Kelly. His funeral took place Tuesday morning from the Church of Our Lady, Rev. Martin O'Connor conducting the solemn obsequies.

BIG CHURCH DAY.

It was a gala day on January 10 in the old Third district of New Orleans when in the early hours of the morning the Church of the Holy Redeemer was crowded to overflowing for the use of colored Catholics in the downtown section of the city. It is the second church exclusively devoted to the colored people below Canal street, and the sixth church set apart exclusively for colored Catholics in New Orleans. The Church of the Holy Redeemer, up to three months ago, was known as the Third Presbyterian church. The erection of a new parish at Alton, Mo., was the result of the following so soon upon the purchase of the Third Presbyterian church, opposite Washington Square, and the consequent foundation of the parish of the Holy Redeemer in the downtown section of the city. The progress of the good work of the Josephite Fathers, to whose care both parishes have been entrusted.

HEADS RED CROSS.

Rev. Richard A. Dowd, pastor of the Church of the Annunciation, Akron, Ohio, has been elected Chairman of the Akron Chapter of the Red Cross. Dowd was one of the pioneers in anti-tuberculosis work; has served on the Health Committee of the Chamber of Commerce; was a prime mover in the establishment of the People's Hospital and active in the City Hospital and Children's Hospital work. He has been in Akron seven years, coming from Astabula county, Ohio. He served two years ago as Vice President of the Chamber of Commerce, and was a member of the Red Cross during the war period.

UNIFORM FUND BENEFIT.

St. Boniface Commandery, Knights of St. John, have made elaborate preparation for their first grand euchar and lotto, to be given February 4, in the Vernon Club hall. The proceeds will be for the uniform fund, the admission being only ten cents, with a door award of $5 in gold. There will be many handsome awards, one $250 in gold. Major John Heindrick and the committee look for a big benefit for the Knights.

LADIES' SOCIETY ELECTIONS.

The St. Elizabeth Ladies' Society of St. Joseph church has elected new officers as follows: Mrs. Kate Pfaffinger, President; Mrs. Rose Belcher, Vice President; Mrs. Mary Habich, Treasurer; Mrs. Catherine Kohlmeyer, Secretary; Promoter, Mrs. Elizabeth McLain, Mrs. John Murphy, Mrs. Elizabeth Trumbull.

RECOVERING FROM INJURIES.

Engineer Mack Sullivan, who was injured in a wreck at Nashville several months ago, has arrived in Bowling Green from that city to visit his sister, Mrs. John Boston, before returning to his home in Louisville.

REPUBLICAN

Boss Gets Support From the Courier-Journal and Times.

Perry Bill Would Be Injurious to Illiterate Negroes and Mountaineers.

Somebody Page Ministers and Federation in the Gambling Investigation.

KEYSTONERS AND SMILE WEEK.

The latest conclusive proof that the Courier-Journal and Times are enrolled in doing the bidding of the Republican bosses is seen in the attitude of the Bingham press toward the bill introduced by Senator Perry at Frankfort, in which it was proposed to abolish party emblems. That Publisher Bingham is enlisted in the advancement of all schemes and political purposes of Boss Tope Hart, formerly of Indiana, there is no doubt, and the frenzied and insane manner in which the Bingham press attacked Senator Perry, one of the brightest men in the Senate, emphasizes the control of Republican Boss Hart over the editorial and news columns of the Courier-Journal and Times. It is rumored that Wallace Hughes, who is seen frequently hobnobbing with Morrow and Hart is the press representative of any of the three getting tired and leaving Thursday morning."

The near Mayor asked us all to smile this week, as it was "Smile Week," and the Tax Receiver sends out the tax bills with the biggest smile in the city history. We can always get a smile out of the Key-stone cops, that is those of us who haven't been robbed or knocked in the head by crooks, and that list is growing smaller. Yesterday a Key-stoner and was reported missing the first night, getting lost on his beat, and couldn't find his way back to the station house. Another Key-stoner at Fourth and Walnut lost his temper at a messenger boy and in revenge stuck out his tongue and made a nasty face at the culprit. Just imagine a real policeman resorting to that terrible revenge. When Greek Meets Greek" is the title of this a proud Key-stoner in a war of words with a Broadway car motorman said, "You goddamned scab." The car man got back with, "I'd rather be a scab than a boob Key-stoner." We'll have to give the Public Library a complete set of new books. On the reading table are many good Catholic magazines, including the latest numbers of the Catholic World, Catholic Charities Review, America, etc.

CHINESE MISSION SOCIETY.

The Chinese Mission Society at Omaha, Neb., has recently received news from Rome that the Holy See has entrusted to the care of his society a large and populous mission in the Province of Hupeh, in Central China, with the city of Hanyang as headquarters. The field assigned by the Holy See to the Chinese Mission Society extends over several thousand square miles of Central Hupeh. It is estimated that its total population is nearly four million. The city of Hanyang, which will be the headquarters of their activities, has a population of nearly half a million. While the three cities together have a total population of two million. Before the end of the present year the Chinese Mission Society hopes to have between thirty and forty missionaries from Ireland and the United States working in their newly appointed district. The central position of their mission and the means of communication it affords with the surrounding provinces will undoubtedly be of great advantage to them in establishing the faith in the heart of China.

CHAPLAIN FOR CARRIERS.

Rev. John J. Kieran, former U. S. A. chaplain of General Hospital No. 4, Fort Oglethorpe, and later transport chaplain, was recently selected as chaplain of the New York Letter Carriers' Association. Hon. Mr. E. Kelly, County Clerk; Senator Calder, Judge Goldfugel and President La Guardia, of the Board of Aldermen, were present when the officers were installed and congratulated the association on their choice of Father Kieran.

PEWEE VALLEY.

J. J. Foley, one of the leading spirits and business men of Pewee Valley, was the unanimous choice and was again re-elected President of the Pewee Valley State Bank, which enjoys a high financial standing. The other officers elected are G. O. Forwood, Vice President; H. B. Pollock, Cashier, and Miss Anna Ramsey, book-keeper.

MOVING PICTURE.

"The Victim, or the Seal of Confession," an interesting and instructive moving picture, will be shown at St. William's Hall, Thirteenth and Oak streets, three nights and Sunday matinee, beginning tomorrow. Tomorrow's matinee will be at 2:15 o'clock and will be for children, the admission fee to be fifteen cents. The evening performances to-morrow, Monday and Tuesday will be for adults, admission to be thirty-five cents.

to the public, which they made in the Courier-Journal of January 29, 1918, then saying "that news suppression would be a thing of the past and news especially pertaining to the police department would be given to the public." Smith adding that he was "the President of a big corporation, the taxpayers being stockholders and entitled to the news." That was the promise. Here is the performance. Our near Mayor did not tell the public that he would order a complete investigation of the graft and gambling charges for the public's benefit, but he sent for Ches Seary, Chairman of the Republican City and County Campaign Committee, and the statement was then given out that the games would be ordered to close. Nothing, really you, as to how long they had been running, or the names of those who had been running them. "Reform, oh, reform, how many sins are committed in this city."

The Kentucky Irish American two years ago called attention to the suicidal policy of the present administration in firing old policemen and appointing "hick" motormen and "bushwhackers" and the events of the past few weeks and months have convinced pretty near everybody that our aggregation of Key-stoners are one huge joke. Any murder is a mystery, and so many wrong bursters have been made by the joke cops lately that it behooves every man to have an alibi ready at all times. The nearest thing to a clue or real arrest in the mute murder case made by Officer Claude Beamblossom (yes, that's his real name), who says he stopped a deaf and dumb man at 2:30 in the morning, wearing two suits of clothes, carrying a big knife, and acting in an excited manner, BUT HE LET HIM GO. Maybe it is just as well though. If he had been arrested, the man, if he didn't like it, could leave jail when he wanted to judging from the many escapes at that institution, the man getting tired and leaving Thursday morning.

SINN FEINERS LEAD.

Though little news of the elections held throughout Ireland on Thursday of last week has yet been permitted to pass the British news agencies, preliminary returns in the municipal elections in Dublin show successes for the Sinn Fein candidates. Three Sinn Fein Commoners were elected on the first count, including Alderman Tom Kelley, now in prison in London, who obtained more than three times the necessary vote. Lord Mayor O'Neill, whose term expired, although running as an independent candidate, scored a record poll, due to the fact, it was said, that he supported Sinn Fein candidates in other sections. Results from the country districts of Ireland indicate that the preponderance of the vote went to the Sinn Fein aspirants, and it is considered certain that the party, together with labor, will have a considerable majority outside of Ulster.

Contests in Ulster between Unionists and Nationalists were close in all sections. These parties united to oppose the Sinn Feiners, several of whom nevertheless were elected. Up to January 15 the Belfast Corporation consisted of fifty-two Unionists and eight Nationalists, but as a result of the elections which ended Saturday, in which the Laborites, Devlinites and Sinn Feiners won a bare majority, the number of Sinn Feiners alone increased to thirty-seven, a loss of fifteen. In the Victoria and Shankhill districts the Sinn Feiners also made inroads on the Unionist party, electing candidates in both places.

SACRED HEART BOY SCOUTS.

Monday night the Sacred Heart school at Seventeenth and Broadway was the armory for the Boy Scouts, in the presence of Rev. Patrick Walsh, the pastor, and a number of men and women of the parish, the representative of the National Catholic War Council, organized a troop that it was predicted will soon give evidence of earnestness and a determination to meet all requirements of the new institution. After the meeting a number of committees were named to co-operate with the boys and assist in their activities. They will have regular meetings and drills, the next to take place Monday night.

SHOWS HEAVY RECORD.

The women's office of the National Catholic War Council at 657 South Fourth street reports that during the eight months up to January 1 over 1,500 women and girls asked for help in finding positions; that the office was successful in more than one-third of the cases, while some have moved away and withdrawn their application and others are still being worked on. EDIFYING SIGHT.

The retreat for men given under the auspices of the Holy Name Society closed Sunday with an edifying sight between 400 and 500 receiving holy communion in a body at 7:30 o'clock mass, while many others because of their positions had to attend the earlier masses. Sunday evening a prayer service at St. Xavier's. This Saturday afternoon who had conducted the retreat, preached the closing sermon and gave Papal benediction. Sixty-five new members were received into the society by Rev. Father R. G. Doyle, Chaplain of the Holy Name Society, and it is now claimed that this is the largest society of its kind south of the Ohio river.

STANDARD PICTURES.

The people of Louisville will be pleased to know that the great Catholic motion picture classic, "The Victim, or the Seal of the Confession," is to be presented in Louisville at St. Xavier's. This Saturday two performances will be presented, at 2:30 in the afternoon and at 8 o'clock in the evening. On Sunday there will be one performance, in the evening at 8 o'clock. Over 100,000 people have seen the picture, and announced later, besides the three The Catholic Art Association is to be commended in placing this play, "The Seal of the Confession," and the "Transgression" before the Catholic public. To stage both of these productions cost the producers several hundred thousand dollars.

NAME VERY BEST.

Every other day now somebody's Presidential "boom" is launched, so that the number of candidates for nomination bids fair to make the national conventions next summer more interesting and lively. If possible, they have ever been. Politicians may be guided in their preferences by this or that consideration, hints the Western World, but perhaps the majority of the people will work to have the very best kind of Americans selected, so that nobody of smaller calibre than that demanded by the highest Americanism may have even a ghost of a chance to occupy the White House chair.

DEATH AT PARIS.

Timothy Higgins, ninety years old, of Paris, has outlived his nine sons. William A. Higgins, the last of the nine, died Saturday at the residence of a sister in Paris after an illness of several months. He is survived by his father and two sisters, Mrs. Mollie Lavin and Mrs. Malachi Flanagan.

VIGILANCE

And United Action Needed to Safeguard the Freedom of Education.

Methods Employed by the Advocates of the Smith-Towner Measure.

Situation of Our Private and Parochial Schools Continues Critical.

PROTESTS STILL UNANSWERED.

Some months ago it was widely rumored, especially in Catholic circles, that the Smith and Towner bills for the creation of a Federal Department of Education, which aroused so much opposition during the recent Congress, had been withdrawn and that a harmless Bankhead bill would take their place. In the face of these assertions the question arises: Are not these soothsayers too optimistic? and the more important question: Is the Smith-Towner Bill still in committee in the United States House of Representatives? The answer must, we regret to say, be negative. The National Education Association, the prime mover in the entire agitation which has been working hand in hand with the Bureau of Education, has announced through its Bulletin: "The Smith-Towner Bill is still in committee in both the Senate and House. Of course it will not hold to be introduced, but will hold its present number and designation throughout the Sixty-sixth Congress, which will expire March 4. We shall do all in our power to secure the passage of this bill by the Sixty-sixth Congress." The N. E. A. means what it says when it announces that it will "do all in its power to secure the passage" of its measure, the adoption of its plan of creating a Department of Education under an appointed Secretary of Education, who is to be a member of the Presidential Cabinet. The propaganda conducted by it is quite active.

The protests raised against the Smith-Towner bills during the last twelve months in all sections of the United States remain unanswered as far as the N. E. A. and the Bureau of Education are concerned, no attempt being made to answer the arguments advanced against the proposed scheme of education throughout the entire field of the realm of intellectual argumentation and simmers down to an attempt to gain influence and votes. The many protests sent to Congress and Senate by Catholics, and the many resolutions reflected the views and wishes of innumerable voters. Yet theirs were not the only objections raised against the bills and the endeavors of the N. E. A. at the Milwaukee meeting of the E. A. held last summer, was severely criticized by both the School Review and the American School Master. The N. E. A. is now urging that an international movement in education, to centralize the entire international organization it chooses to be just as vague as it has often been heretofore in its announcements regarding national matters.

While these efforts are in progress to centralize the entire international organization it chooses to be just as vague as it has often been heretofore in its announcements regarding national matters. Still the presence of the Smith bill in Congress, and other efforts directed against the private schools, argue to the contrary. The cause of freedom of education, as anyone may see from the facts adduced, stands in need of vigilant friends. And even more than mere vigilance is needed—organized, general preparedness for defense is necessary. In the States and Territories, and in the national organization it chooses to be just as vague as it has often been heretofore in its announcements regarding national matters. FRIENDS INVITED.

The ladies of the Sanctuary Guild and the Altar Society of St. Charles Borromeo church, Twenty-seventh and Chestnut, extend a hearty invitation to their friends to be with them next Tuesday, in the afternoon at 2:30 and at night at 8 o'clock. For the convenience of those who wish to remain a plate luncheon consisting of sandwiches, salads and coffee will be served. A load of coal will be given away both afternoon and night as a tally award. The women say "Come down and have a real good time."

INTO ETERNAL REST.

Mrs. Mary McHugh, seventy years old, passed peacefully away at her home in Flemingsburg after a long illness borne with patience and fortitude. She is survived by one son, J. H. McHugh, and three daughters, Mrs. James Ryan, Mrs. W. H. Fischer and Mrs. James R. Doran.

HELP VISITATION HOME.

Now that the officers and committees are appointed and everything ready for the campaign for the Visitation Home for Working Girls, it is to be hoped that in their victorious drive they will go over the top. The Kentucky Irish American would show its good will by furnishing them with a little ammunition. The Visitation Home is an institution for every girl of good character who is forced to make her way unaided, those without parents or friends in our big city. It has no favors for any denomination or class. All are equally welcome within its portals when they are in flight from temptation and unemployment. It is an institution for every girl also in the sense that no one knows when its shelter may be needed for the sister or daughter. All have not the means to go to the high-priced boarding houses, therefore let us have the Visitation Home and bring blessings to the working girls and credit to Louisville.

Besides the Visitation Home is an institution that has made good. It is not an experiment on which the citizens of Louisville are going to spend their money. They are making an investment in a home that has shown by its history that it deserves the highest confidence of the public. Every dollar for better equipment is sure to enhance the grounds for that confidence.

Finally the Visitation Home is an institution that is all for the service of the public. The good Sisters, with their years of training and experience, would certainly be entitled to a good salary. But they give their service and their lives without compensation for the love of God and of their neighbors. A dollar given to this campaign comes back a hundred per cent. to the happy community that is privileged to have such an institution in its midst. On then, ye soldiers of charity, and roll up a sum that will double the capacity and double the public usefulness of the splendid institution that is seeking larger and better quarters.

NOW IT COMES ONT.

The secret of the continual grinch of Admiral Sims is out at last, and we all know why our navy leader was peeved at Secretary Daniels and the naval board. In his report he says that someone said to him that in his trip to England he must not let the British pull the wool over his eyes, as America would just as soon fight John Bull as Germany. This was downright insulting to the best little British Admiral in the American navy, and what a blow it was to the delicate sensibilities of a man whose claim to distinction was that he spent most of his time toying to British royalty and spreading a lot of guff about the hands-across-the-sea myth. Sims' next step should be to follow Astor and locate in England, where he is appreciated.

'T WAS EVER THUS.

Louisville's "reform" administration is now staging a bitter fight over gambling in Louisville, the Mayor's friends and fellow officeholders charging that Sheriff Ross is mad because his friends' gambling games were interfered with. The Sheriff retaliates by giving the Mayor a list of gambling games protected by the police and City Hall officials. The only parties silent are the ministers and members of the Church Federation, who have been boasting heretofore that they supported and elected the present administration on a platform of "reform."

BREAKING WITH PRESIDENT.

Despite the uncompromising stand of the President, it is likely that some agreement on the peace treaty will be reached soon. As the True Voice says, there is no doubt that the country wants relief from the present anomalous situation in which the deadlock on the treaty has placed it. Exchanges of ratifications of the treaty took place early this month in Paris by Great Britain, France, Italy and other nations concerned. This means that these nations are now at peace with Germany, while the United States is still technically at war. We have been assured that the resumption of normal industry and trade waits on the declaration of peace. Why, then, postpone peace for another year to wait for the decision of the voters on the league of nations? There is neither logic nor reason in the proposal. If the President and the Senate can not agree on the terms of the peace treaty, a resolution declaring hostilities at an end should be adopted at once by Congress. We do not believe that many Democrats want to have the treaty as an issue in the coming campaign. It would undoubtedly mean defeat, for the President's Western trip clearly showed lack of enthusiasm for the bargain he made at Versailles. European countries are now blaming him for not consulting the Senate beforehand, and thus insuring the ratification of the treaty. The Senate asserted its constitutional rights in the proper way by refusing to be dictated to by the President. His party leaders must now save the country from the further mistake he would make in prolonging the present situation for fourteen months more. It is time to act, and the Democratic leaders in the Senate show signs of breaking with the President.

IRELAND UNITED.

The elections in Ireland last week are a striking answer to those over here who have been claiming that the Irish people are divided on the question of self-government. With military guards at the polls and other means of intimidation the Sinn Fein party captured over 70 per cent. of the Parliamentary seats.

IMPORTANT TO AMERICANS.

To those here who were born in Ireland and who have been accustomed to make sacrifices for our ideals, the Irish bond campaign means no more than another welcome opportunity to testify their faith in what to them is a sacred cause. It would, however, not be fair to expect that Americans of Irish blood would look upon the loan campaign with like sentiments; their education and environment rather accentuate the practical in their makeup. And yet from a purely American point of view the success of this bond campaign would be eminently practical; it would be a stroke of business whose value to the United States could not be overestimated. Now it may surprise some persons to learn that for the year which has just closed the export and import trade of Ireland totaled almost a billion dollars, equal to nearly $200 per head of the population. This enormous business was done entirely with England and at such terms as the latter chose to make. Now the purpose of this bond issue, besides providing the means to develop Ireland's natural resources and to build up the infant industries which Sinn Fein has established in every considerable town in Nationalist Ireland, is to find other outlets than British ports for Irish products and to open the Irish markets to the nations of the world—in short, to bring about Ireland's commercial emancipation. Needless to say that under the new conditions which this Irish bond issue would create, the bulk of Ireland's trade would go to the United States, since it is to the latter she would and must look for the necessary materials to build up her new industries; hence the success of the Irish bond campaign is a matter of the first importance to Americans. Besides with the Irish export and import trade in her hands the United States would have the commercial key to Europe. For some years to come Europe will want more goods than America could profitably supply, because return cargoes would not be attainable, but with Ireland's trade in her hands and Ireland made a distributing station the problem of return cargoes would in a great measure be solved and the commercial preeminence of the United States would be assured. Americans therefore are vitally concerned in the success of the Irish bond campaign.

Some Things All Should Know About the Visitation Home

WHAT THE HOME IS

A boarding home for wage-earning girls, located at 615 West Walnut street, under Catholic auspices, housing respectable girls of any faith or creed Managed by the Sisters of Mercy, who took over the work in March, 1914, who have cleared it of all debt.

It houses eighty-five girls—more than any single similar institution in the city.

WHY A NEW HOME IS NEEDED

The present location is bad. The building is not modern in its equipment. The building also is wholly inadequate as to size.

In six years' time there have been turned away approximately two thousand girls who sought the protection of a Christian home.

A new home should accommodate two hundred girls if possible.

A new home should be able to take care of a few transients, to accommodate young girls traveling alone or passing through the city.

WHY IT IS A GOOD CAUSE

Because of its excellent record. No high salaried officials.

Because of its Christian influence and the protection it affords.

Because the management grades the board according to the girl's salary, taking care that the small wage-earner is trained so as to increase her income, in order that this charitable feature of the work may not be an excuse for the merchant or business man to pay small salaries.

Because if a girl is out of employment or ill she will be well taken care of and need have no fear of going "cold and hungry."

Because the girls who usually seek the protection of this home are in most cases without mother and father, and always without a home.

Because you should be glad to know that there will be a new home large enough to take care of your sister or your daughter should she ever need it.

Because it has the endorsement of Right Rev. Denis O'Donoghue, Bishop of Louisville.

A Dominican church parish has been started in Price Hill, a suburb of Cincinnati, and the news has just reached here that Very Rev. Father T. L. Father Crowley is now in Cincinnati making preparations for the new church.

THE SHOCK OF SHOCKS.

In these days of topsy-turviness with prohibition, Bolshevism and other isms to upset us, it has to be a sure enough surprise or shock to attract attention, but the residents of Sixth and Oak streets were given a starter this week. Ex-Councilman Mike McDermott was seen wending his way along the thoroughfare with a cigarette perched jauntily between his teeth. Many of the oldest residents who had become familiar with Mike and his extra strong "dudder" had to resort to smelling salts to recover from the shock.

FORTY HOURS.

The Forty Hours devotions in Louisville will take place next in St. Martin's church, Shelby and Gray, and the services will be marked by elaborate ceremony under the direction of Rev. Father Felten. Beginning with high mass tomorrow morning the services will be continuous until Tuesday evening.
